

Why is SafeAssured™ the Best?

Unlike other products within the industry, the SafeAssured mini-CD provides a single storehouse of details containing personal identification information essential for location efforts. It protects children in several ways. First, it keeps private information safe in the hands of parents. No information is stored away from the CD. Second, sensitive personal data is electronically protected through encryption. Third, it responds to the need for immediate action upon discovery of a missing child.

Information captured for dissemination includes the following, all stored on the SafeAssured mini-CD. Each of these bits of information combine to reveal a child's life-like qualities as no still picture can:

- Digital photograph
- Streaming video showing movement and gait with both close-up and distant shots that are television-ready (Patent pending)
- Linked audio file providing the child's voice inflection and accent (Patent pending)
- General personal information

The mini- CD secures this highly sensitive and private personal data with electronic encryption. The data can only be accessed when the parent/guardian presents the mini-CD to law enforcement. For this last protective measure a patent is also pending.
